Description

Program Description

Draken International, Inc is currently fulfilling the Department of the Army, National Guard Bureau, Air National Guard requirement for Adversary Air Support Services.

BACKGROUND:

Air National Guard (ANG) A30 requires at a minimum, adversary air support for 150 hours, mobilization, to be flown as a "6 turn 4", 2- week exercise (10 Flying Days) to occur within 60 days of contract award. The contractor shall provide Fighter-type aircraft meeting the requirements in section 5 of this PWS in support of at least 100 Adversary Air Support (AAS) sorties for adversary air requirements at locations to be determined.

REQUIREMENTS:

The contractor shall support the Air National Guard/A30 with AAS sorties in order to facilitate the Weapons School, Red Flag, and Operational Test adversary support. Each sortie will be approximately 90 minutes. All aircraft support will be conducted within the continental United States (CONUS)

The contractor's responsibilities will consist of operating, maintaining, and performance of tactically relevant aircraft for air-to-air tracking, targeting, and AAS operations, to include associated equipment systems that interface with various platforms and ground force personnel. AAS sorties will integrate as part of the USAF Aggressor Force in support of the Air National Guard adversary air requirements

AAS will simulate non-western threat aircraft capabilities in an air-air environment. Tactical profiles may include, Beyond Visual Range (BVR) engagements, operational test support, dissimilar air combat maneuvers, offensive & defensive, with-in visual range maneuvers, multi-ship tactics and merges and flight from 300 feet AGL to 25,000 feet MSL. The contractor will provide face-to-face mission briefs and debriefs. The contractor shall provide all aircraft, aircrews, and maintenance personnel to support AAS sorties flown
